The Video Strategy Brands Need: Improve quality-adjusted reach

Simulations conducted via Malaysia GroupM's video-neutral planning tool, mScreen, revealed that with the increase of budget allocation on TV, the quality-adjusted reach will be improved with higher View-Through Rate (VTR).

By incorporating View-Through Rate (VTR) as a key metric in video planning with higher investment on TV to improve attentive reach, brands can foster more meaningful audience interactions and thus drive better brand outcomes.
